

What Other Editors Have To Say

WHAT ARE VALUES AND HOW BASED?

A recent article in the St. Johns Republican-News on values and the confusion in the public mind is interesting. It helps to explain away a lot of the differences of opinion regarding the values of securities of various kinds, particularly real estate values. Says the story in part, quoting a resident:

"Three years ago I bought a house for $18,000 for my home. I still live in it. It is paid for. It suits my wife and me, therefore, if it was worth $18,000 three years ago for a home, why is it not worth $18,000 today? That's one way of figuring values. . . .

"I understand my home cost the contractor $16,000. Today that same house could be replaced for $12,000. This is a second way of figuring value.

"If it were necessary to convert my home into cash immediately, it is likely that the most I could get on a forced sale is $7,500. I would not want to sell it for $18,000, even if it were offered. Yet it could be built new today for $12,000. If I had to sell it I could get not more than $7,500."

Three sets of standards have been used to define present values. The last is the most radical and has resulted practically in selling America on the auction block. That market values are not always true values is beyond question. They may be higher or lower, depending upon many other factors.

That the middleground of replacement is at present a far sadder figure to use, is apparent to most people. There seems to be justification for the complaint regarding the relentless method used in federal circles at the time of the bank holiday. To say that everything must have the value it will bring on the auction block is to place America in bankruptcy. And this type of bankruptcy is a pernicious form of robbery. The threatened inflation would appear to have many features of far greater advantage to the whole American people.—Midland Republican.

Landing on Henry Ford by General Johnson of NRA, is logical from the General's viewpoint, but strangely enough does not arouse the populace to enthusiasm. The reason is that Ford has been years and years ahead of other industry in his wage and hour set-ups, and probably right now is operating on minimums vastly in excess of those required. It is just a question of getting him to conform to a general rule and Ford is no conformist. He would never sign if he thought he was obligating himself to some form of control of his business by a general board or by financiers or by labor bosses. Ford is big enough to fight his own battles and he will fight them. Trying to incite antagonism against him until he has had his say is not likely to get Johnson anywhere.—Rogers City Advance.

The newspapers of the country are certainly doing their bit to put over the NRA. Inexhaustible columns of publicity, freely given (Continued on last page)

CO. TREAS. GETS HIGHWAY MONEY

2½ MILLION DISTRIBUTION NOW COMPLETE

One of the perplexing problems of the County authorities throughout Michigan which has resulted from the troubled financial condition of the State Government, has reached its solution through communications received by the County Treasurers from State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner during this week.

The Highway Commissioner has been able to remit to all County Treasurers the fourth quarterly payment for this year of monies due the counties under the McNitt Act. Because of the difficult financial situation with which the present administration had to contend at the beginning of its term of office, delays in the payment of McNitt monies to the counties resulted. Through the cooperation of the Highway Department and the State Finance Committee, it has become possible to release these funds and since the first of July amounts owing on this account have all been paid. The McNitt Act, which is Act 130 of the Public Acts of 1931, provided for distribution of $2,500,000.00 during 1933 from the State Highway funds. This apportionment has now been completed.

Highway Commissioner Van Wagoner has forwarded to the County Treasurer of Crawford County a State warrant in the amount of $4,944.87 covering the final payment for 1933.

School Opens With Lower Attendance

Grayling School opened Monday morning, and by Tuesday everything was clicking as it should be. Enrollment for classes was settled and things are running smoothly.

The enrollment for this year is decreased from that of last year, having a total of 602, with 155 in the high school. The senior class has a number of 25 in comparison to the 38 at the beginning of last year.

The new teachers are fitting into things nicely, they are: Miss Shirley McNeven, of Bay City, former student of Grayling High School, and graduate of Albion College, who is teaching the sixth grade. Miss Cora Lewis of Gaylord, sister of the late Miss Rosalin Lewis, who received her State Teacher's Life certificate at Alma College, is teaching the first grade. Frank Bond of Olivet, who is taking the place of Miss Rosalin Lewis in the science department, is a graduate of Olivet College. As no lady teacher for the physical training department was hired this year, Mr. Cornell as an experiment is handling the physical training for the whole school.

EIGHTY-EIGHT USEFUL YEARS

MRS. RASMUS HANSON CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

To live in one place for fifty-five years and to be held throughout that time in affection and high esteem by an entire community, is a record which few may boast.

Grayling's Grand Old Lady, Mrs. Rasmus Hanson, reached her eighty-eighth birthday September gifts of these warm things. On this recent visit to Grayling Judge Frank Bell proudly displayed a pair of fine woolen socks—the last pair to come off her needles.

During the depression when so many men have been forced to tramp the country, Mrs. Hanson has turned no one from her door. Extra food is kept in readiness for her kitchen callers. A day rarely passes that several do not ask for seventh. Friends and relatives gathered at her home both afternoon and evening in celebration of the occasion.

Margrethe Hanson came to America from Denmark when she was nineteen years of age. She married Rasmus Hanson in Manistee where she lived until 1878, coming from there to Grayling.

Her guests last Thursday were much interested in her reminiscences of those early days. Nels Michelson described Grayling to her as "a hole in the woods"—as indeed it was, a small clearing in Michigan's magnificent tract of pine. Here she found the Hartwicks, the Robinsons, the Babbitts, Shoppengans, and a few others. Shortly after came her brother John K. Hanson and her cousin Nels Michelson with their families.

The journey that she and her three children made to their new home required three days. The train that bore them into Grayling also carried "Aunt Becky" Wight, on her way to pioneer at Frederic.

All of Mrs. Hanson's five children reside in Grayling. She has seven grand-children and two great-grandchildren. Most of these and her god-child, Frances Mickelson, were with her on her birthday.

Mrs. Hanson's chief interest outside her home is the Lutheran church. Enjoying good health, she still takes part in its activities.

Kindly and generous deeds have never been events in Mrs. Hanson's life. They are so much a part of her daily living that more often than not, these acts are unheralded. For the many fine things done by herself and her late husband, applause was neither invited nor expected.

Best known of their gifts is that of the Michigan National Guard encampment ground, and the beautiful club house for officers. They gave the major portion of the building fund for Mercy Hospital, and their subsequent donations to this institution were many and liberal. They were the donors of Danebod. Many an unfortunate would have found life much more difficult but for the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Hanson.

Many men now prominent in the lumber business in this and other states received their training under Mr. Hanson; and others were helped by him in acquiring education and in establishing their business.

During the war Mrs. Hanson did far more than her "bit". Her knitting needles were plied incessantly and scores of garments were sent by her to the "boys". And since that time knitting has been more than a pastime for her. Many needy, and occasionally others are made happy by her

it. How splendid to so carry on at eighty-eight.

Many indeed are the friends and acquaintances who think of Mrs. Hanson with gratefulness in their hearts. The community is thankful for the years this good woman has spent in its midst, and all join in wishing her many more happy birthdays.

Grayling Golfers Lose At Cheboygan

Seventeen Grayling golfers went to Cheboygan Sunday to compete in tournament with the members of Cheboygan Golf club. The locals were on the losing end of the score 29½ to 21½.

The weather was ideal and the Grayling players, most of whom had never played the Cheboygan links, enjoyed their fine course immensely. The hills and the valleys, the rolling country, and water courses in the fairways made the course quite different from what the Grayling players were used to playing. And, incidentally, not easy. It was a very enjoyable match even though the locals didn't bring home the laurels. They were treated royally and, naturally, a lot of new friendships were formed.

September 24th Cheboygan will come to Grayling for a return match and the local players are expecting to give a better account of themselves. Roy Milnes, Grayling's champion for three successive seasons, turned in the lowest

CONNECT GRAYLING-MIO HIGHWAYS

Efforts have been made by a committee of the County Chamber of Commerce, with M. A. Bates as chairman, to get some aid for connecting highways between Grayling and Mio, running straight east from the Feldhauser school to an intersecting road that crosses McMaster bridge. When built this route will shorten the road distance between these two communities from 10 to 15 miles, and will open a region east of Grayling that at the present time is difficult to get to.

This proposed new route would require the construction of about 6½ miles of road. It was the plan of the C. of C. committee to request the County Road commission to assist in getting this road designated and work started while assistance may be had from the OOC men.

The proposition was put up to State Forester Marcus Schaaf and he, after going over the route thoroughly, is now fully in accord with the proposition and agreed that his department would do this work on condition that our County Road commission would furnish a tractor and operator. There will be no other expense to the people of our county.

This is the final link in the Traverse City, Grayling, Mio, and Harrisville highway that has been advocated for the past ten years, and when completed, will afford a splendid thoroughfare across Michigan from Harrisville to Traverse City. It will open a section of Michigan that has been clamoring for years to get a good road into Grayling. In order to get here from Mio under the present highway conditions one must either drive over miles of trails road via the Kellogg bridge, or use the better highway via Roscommon with a greater distance of about ten miles. And the new proposed route will still be about six miles shorter than the Kellogg bridge route.

There seems to be every reason why this road should have the support of the County Road commission, and no doubt they will be in full accord and will designate the use of a man and tractor as requested by Mr. Schaaf. The highway would open a new trade territory for Grayling merchants and also afford a big saving in transportation for anyone wishing to reach the eastern part of the state from this part of Michigan.

GOLF

MRS. GEORGE N. OLSON WINS CLUB CHAMPIONSHIP

Mrs. George N. Olson is champion lady golfer for the Grayling Club for the year 1933, having won by three holes from Miss Ella Hanson in the final match.

Mrs. Olson's name is the first to appear on the beautiful new black and silver Ladies Golf Trophy, which she was presented with at the luncheon held yesterday at the club. Miss Hanson received for the runner-up prize a new approach putter, which is a very nice club.

Miss Francis Mickelson received a prize for having the lowest qualifying score—102.

The first day play began on Thursday, Sept. 7th as follows: Miss Margrethe Hanson won from Miss Francis Mickelson by one hole to play Miss Betty Welsh, who won from Mrs. A. J. Joseph by one hole. Mrs. Esbern Olson drew a bye, while Mrs. Carl Mickelson defaulted to Miss Ella Hanson. Mrs. C. G. Clippert was 6 holes up on Mrs. E. L. Sparkes in their match to play Mrs. A. J. McInnis, who drew a bye. Mrs. Roy Milnes won by 6 holes from Mrs. Jesse Schoover to play Mrs. G. N. Olson, champion over Mrs. Manno Corwin by 7 holes.

The results of the second day's play were: Miss Margrethe Hanson defeated Miss Betty Welsh by two holes, while Miss Ella Hanson won from Mrs. Esbern Olson by 1 hole. Mrs. A. J. McInnis was one hole up on Mrs. C. G. Clippert after the 11 holes necessary to play because of the tie at the end of the nine, and Mrs. G. N. Olson was two up on Mrs. Roy Milnes. In the third day's play Miss Ella Hanson won from her sister Margrethe by two holes and Mrs. G. N. Olson won from Mrs. McInnis by 6, to play Miss Ella for the championship on Sept. 10th.

Ladies consolation contests will start tomorrow, Friday.

LADIES DAY AT THE GOLF CLUB

Eighteen ladies met at the club house Wednesday afternoon for the potluck luncheon given semi-monthly by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Golf Club.

The honor guests at the luncheon were Mrs. Geo. Olson, champion of the ladies in the golf tournament, and Miss Ella Hanson, who was runner-up. A special table had been prepared for them and the members of the games committee.

Following the luncheon, Mrs. A. J. Joseph, president of the Auxiliary, presented Mrs. Olson with a silver woman golfer mounted on an ebony block. Below the heading "Women's Championship" was engraved "Mrs. George Olson, 1933." Miss Hanson was absent so her trophy, an approach putter, was presented to her later. The Auxiliary is indebted to Mr. Chris Olson for the beautiful putter which he donated to them.

Miss Margrethe Bauman held the high score for bridge which was enjoyed throughout the afternoon.

Miss Doty of Grand Rapids was an out of town guest.

MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS VISIT FREDERIC

Grayling band and the Boys Drum and Bugle corps paid a visit to Frederic last night and put on concerts from 8 to 10 o'clock. In spite of the fact that the night was rainy and the Frederic people had decided that the bands wouldn't be there, the school gym was well filled. Added features were an exhibition of flag signals by Billy Stock and Forest Brado, and drum solos by Junior McNamara.

Eight cars including Craig's Bakery, and Laundry trucks were used for transporting the bands. This visit by our musical organizations was made at the suggestion of Mayor McNamara, as a friendly gesture to the good people of Frederic.

Next Tuesday night they will pay a similar visit to Roscommon, and later to Lewiston. If you can offer car service Tuesday night, please be at the Band hall at 7:00 p. m. Grayling people are grateful to Prof. Clark and his band and to the Drum and Bugle corps for their fine community spirit.

The birth rate in the United States is said to be falling behind. Maybe we had better supplement the blue eagle with a blue stork.

Tony Nelson Gets Supt. Highway Plun

APPOINTED MAINTENANCE SUPERINTENDENT

Tony Nelson is feeling pretty happy over his appointment as maintenance superintendent for the State Highway department in Crawford County. He succeeds Floyd Goshorn who was serving the interim since Harold Cliff dropped out because of political reasons.

Tony is a Crawford county man and has many friends in both major political parties who, no doubt, will be pleased to see this fine position go to him. Mr. Goshorn has worked in the State highway department of the county many years and, it is reported, was a good man on the job. He will relinquish the superintendent's position September 26th.

Mr. Nelson received notice of his appointment Sunday in a letter which reads as follows:

Sept. 8, 1933
Mr. Anthony J. Nelson,
Grayling, Mich.

Dear Sir:
I am pleased to offer you the appointment as Maintenance Superintendent for the State Highway Department, in Crawford County, to succeed Mr. Floyd Goshorn, for a term at my pleasure, beginning the 26th day of September, 1933.

I ask that you spend the next two weeks, commencing Tuesday, September 12th, until September 26th, familiarizing yourself with the duties of your new position, without compensation, with the expectation of assuming complete responsibility upon the retirement of Mr. Goshorn on September 26th.

All employees of the Maintenance organization will be appointed by the State Highway Commissioner.

Very truly yours,
State Highway Commissioner.
By H. C. Coons,
Deputy State Highway Commissioner.

APPOINTED ATTORNEY AND APPRAISER

An attorney and appraiser for each district to look after matters pertaining to the Home Owners' Loan Corporation have been appointed. Elmer G. Smith, of Gaylord, Mich., has been appointed as attorney, and James M. Harcourt of Prudenville, Mich., as appraiser for this district, which comprises the counties of Crawford, Kalkaska, Missaukee, Roscommon, Montmorency, Otsego, and which is known as the St. Ignace district.

Any home owners wishing information on a loan will write either of these gentlemen.

PATRIOTIC BUYING

Much stress is being placed by NRA officials on the fact that September 20 has been marked as the opening day of a patriotic buying campaign that it is hoped will reach sufficient intensity to insure the success of the Trade Recovery program. Through this stimulated sales effort they hope to maintain the volume of retail trade through the months of October and November until it encounters the usual holiday buying that is expected to carry it along until the first of the year. Unless we have decided cooperation on the part of those whose incomes have been increased, the entire trade revival movement may be threatened with failure. As we have pointed out on many occasions—there is no mystery about the entire NRA campaign—unless unitedly we put our shoulders to the wheel we cannot expect success to crown our efforts. It would seem that for a season or a year individual advancement could be forgotten for the good of the nation as a whole. Think this over.

STILL: GREAT DANGER OF FOREST FIRES

Unless an abrupt change in weather conditions occurs within the next month, Michigan faces the prospect of a record of more than 100,000 acres destroyed during the season by forest fires.

While at the beginning of the month the number of burned over acres for the season did not exceed 50,000 acres, the state was facing what is ordinarily the worst hazard period.

According to Department of Conservation records, September and October have always shown many fires, even in years of high precipitation.

NRA NOTES

By The Chairman

The campaign in the interest of the NRA now going on is designed to benefit all the people of our country, especially those who are at present unemployed. A job is what most people want today. The NRA is intended to be so operated that a great number of people now out of a job, will be given one. Why not help in this great undertaking.

Crawford County is fully organized, under the direction of the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce. Committee membership covers every township in the county with the undersigned as chairman and a chairman and several committee members from each township.

The Arbitration and Mediation committee is as follows: Chairman, Merle Nellist, Russell R. Burns and Dr. Clarence G. Clippert. This committee will receive all complaints of violation. It might be said at this time that no complaints of violation will be received by telephone; they must be made in person or in writing signed by the complainant. Names of persons making complaint will not be disclosed, and this committee will investigate all complaints that appear to have merit, but must have more than vague rumors and unconfirmed statements to work on.

We want the persons who believe he or she are unfairly treated to come to us and give us the facts; general complaints have no standing.

There are still a few employers of labor who have not yet signed the President's agreement. They are especially invited to sign and make a unanimous community in this great undertaking.

Grayling's Part in the NRA Program

The N.R.A. plan is designed to put five million men back on payrolls in a short time.

When this is done, 20,000,000 people (assuming four to each wage earner's family) will suddenly be placed in position to buy the normal necessities of life. That means that the total trade volume of the nation will, upon the complete acceptance of this plan, be lifted by from 10 to 20 percent.

Grayling will have a definite share in this increased prosperity to the extent that it participates in the plan, so there is a responsibility on every citizen here to cooperate to the utmost to make this gigantic national plan a complete success. Every employer and every consumer has a definite responsibility to assume.

The Employer's Responsibility
N.R.A. calls upon every employer to shorten hours of labor, so as to make room for more employees.

Each industry will before long adopt its own code which will fix the increased labor obligations to be assumed by all firms associated with that particular industry. Until that time all employers are asked to sign the President's Agreement and to meet the hours and wages established in that agreement. This agreement is sometimes referred to as the Blanket Code.

The success of N.R.A. therefore calls for the cooperation of every employer.

It is to the employer's self-interest to do this. Why? Because more people working, with bigger payrolls, will increase the market for his goods. Every dollar spent by an employer now for increased

AUTO DRIVERS NOW RESPONSIBLE

NEW FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY LAW EXPLAINED

The Michigan automobile owners' and operators' financial responsibility law which was enacted at the last session of the State Legislature becomes effective on October 16th.

The Act provides that any motorist who fails to satisfy, within thirty days, any final judgment which is the outcome of an automobile accident causing the injury or death of any person or property damage in excess of $300 will forfeit his right to drive or register any motor vehicle.

For the purpose of this law, a judgment shall be considered satisfied if $5,000 is paid in the case of one person injured, $10,000 in the case of more than one (subject to the limit of $5,000 per person) or $1,000 in the case of material damage to the property of others whenever a judgment shall be in excess of these respective amounts. This does not lessen in any way, however, the plaintiff's right of civil action to recover the total amount decreed.

In addition to paying the judgment the defendant motorist must also furnish satisfactory evidence of his financial ability to respond in damages for any future accident for which he may be held legally accountable. Similarly any motorist whose driving license or registration certificate has been suspended because of a violation of the traffic laws must prove his financial responsibility before he is again permitted to operate or register any motor vehicle.

This important new law applies not only to Michigan residents but to non-residents as well. Furthermore this law is effective as regards Michigan motorists wherever the accident occurs or resultant suit is brought. Immediately upon receipt of any such final judgment rendered by any court of competent jurisdiction anywhere in the United States or Canada the Secretary of State of Michigan shall immediately suspend the defendant's Michigan driving license and registration certificate.

Satisfactory proof of financial responsibility for future accidents may be furnished in either of three ways: (1) by depositing with the State Treasurer cash or acceptable collateral to the amount of $11,000, (2) by filing an acceptable surety bond to like amount or (3) by carrying $5,000 to $10,000 automobile liability insurance and $1,000 automobile property damage insurance covering all motor vehicles owned by the assured, such insurance to be issued by a company authorized to do business in Michigan or in the state in which the policyholder lives or from which he obtains his operating and car licenses.

This law will make more certain the payment of damages to the innocent victims of motor car accidents and, what is even more important, will tend to make all motorists operate with greater regard for highway safety.

ed payroll will return many fold as business flows from a consuming public, once more able to buy to supply its unfiled needs.

So every employer should sign the President's Agreement at once.

The Consumer's Responsibility
Every individual, man and woman, who buys anything, owes it to himself and his community and to the nation, to buy only from those employers who have taken the increased burden of increasing payrolls to bring back prosperity. This is to the self-interest of the consumer because no citizen can fail to share in this added prosperity. It will reflect itself in increased values for everything he owns. It will make his present position more secure by reversing the process of deflation.

So every consumer should sign the consumer's pledge, which commits him to do his part in this great national economic experiment.

The duty of every citizen of Grayling is therefore plain. The President has said:

"On the basis of this simple principle of everybody doing things together, we are starting out on this Nation-wide attack on unemployment. It will succeed if our people understand it—in the big industries, in the little shops, in the great cities and in the small villages. There is nothing complicated about it and there is nothing particularly new in the principle. It goes back to the basic idea of society and of the nation itself that people acting in a group can accomplish things which no individual acting alone could even hope to bring about."

Grayling must do its part in this great plan. It has never failed when the nation called and it will not fail now.

MELVIN A. BATES,
Chairman.

The Success of National Recovery Is Now in The Hands of The People!

Six months ago last Sept. 4th, Franklin Delano Roosevelt was inaugurated President of the United States. He faced the biggest job ever put before a President.

Into his first six months in office he has packed more action than most Presidents have combined in an entire four-year term. He has accomplished GREAT THINGS.

But now a stage has been reached in the administration's activity where the problem must be put squarely up to the people. The President needs your help—the help of every employed person in the land.

You will remember that late in July the President began to line up employers. He asked the manufacturers to shorten hours, fix minimum wages, take men back to work.

Then he called upon all the merchants—the downtown stores and your neighborhood shops—to do likewise.

His idea was—that more men at work would mean more money spent. More money spent, and thus put in circulation, would help everyone down the line. This was the way to Recovery.

The manufacturers—or most of them—have signed up. The merchants have agreed to do their part.

Now it's up to the public to put their shoulder to the wheel. We're at a point where much of the success of Recovery depends on how quickly people begin to buy.

It's easy to see what happens when you spend for things you need. You pay out some money. You get food—clothing—drugs—furnishings—things both you and your family need and can use.

The merchant gets money to pay his help, to pay his rent, to pay for the things he bought for you, to buy new things to sell. The manufacturer gets new orders—he has to buy raw materials—men have work and draw wages.

In short—because you buy, the normal routine of business comes to life again.

So, if you are anxious to help the President—if you are rooting for Recovery—your course is clear. Everybody must start to buy.

Buy what you need. Nobody asks you to be extravagant. Nobody wants you to spend a single penny you can't afford. Just buy the things you can sensibly use right now. Stop putting off that purchase of a new suit, a new hat, a new radio or a new car—and buy it now. The merchants are doing their part. Do yours.

Buy in September to keep re-employed men at work. Buy in September because it is now September, and now is the accepted time—the time to start. Help these merchants and the manufacturers to help the President.

We're all in this thing together. What is good for the country is good for every individual in it. And there's nothing America needs now more than healthy normal buying by every person who can.

The President needs your help! Give it to him! Get busy—BUYING!

National Fire Hero

Warren Dues, twenty-three-year-old youth of Flint, Mich., has been selected as America's outstanding fire hero by the National Firemen's association. Dues, who saved six children and a girl, fifteen, from death in a fire two years ago, which resulted in one fatality, went to Washington as the central figure in the eleventh annual firemen's Labor day parade. He is an unemployed chauffeur and former messenger boy.

After the Cheaters

Miss Mary E. Hughes, promoter and organizer extraordinary, has been named by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson to command an army of 15,000 women who will promote the program of the NRA and ferret out the "drones and chiselers" who cheat on the "blue hawk" of the recovery administration. Miss Hughes comes to her new job with a reputation established by organizing personally 10,000 towns and cities for the navy and marine band tours.

GOOD REASON

He—Why don't they give you a speaking part, if you're such a wonder on the stage?
She—The manager says I'm too beautiful for words.

DOMESTIC GAME

He—I got beat at poker last night.
She—You shouldn't gamble.
He—You're wrong. My wife threw the poker at me.

MAY CHANGE HER MIND

John—Daisy says there's no such thing as perpetual motion.
Jim (who has taken her out)—She ought to see herself eat.

TRUE TO HIS WORD

Wife—You have changed dreadfully. Before we were married you said that you'd lay down your life for me.
Hubby—Well, I did. My life of single blessedness.

MOST IMPORTANT PART

"That cop just took the most important part of my car!"
"Why don't you kick?"
"No use—it was my number he took."

FELL WHEN HE MET HER

"He met his wife by accident, eh?"
"Well, he fell for her hard when he met her, he said."

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO.

Thursday, September 15, 1910

The foundation for the new hospital is completed and the superstructure will be rushed with a double crew of mechanics, so as to have it completed before the advent of winter.

T. Wakeley was in the village Monday, the first time for many months.

P. L. Brown has the cement work under the Presbyterian church nearly completed.

Appreciating our needs, and judging our appetite by his own, Comrade Countryman, in charge of the Poor Farm, has brought us a sack of sweet corn, as large and fine as we ever saw.

John LaMothe of Maple Forest returned last week from Detroit where he has been working all summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brink attended the annual reunion of the Soldiers and Sailors association of N. E. Michigan at West Branch.

Peter Lovely of Maple Forest, who is 80 years old, cut an acre and a half of hay in 5 hours time and was just as smart when he got through as he was when he started.

The Citizen's Band, "The Best" took the morning train yesterday for West Branch to toot for the soldiers, who are holding their annual reunion in that city.

Street Commissioner Nelson not realizing the appetite which we have inherited from Dutch ancestry, only brought us one cabbage for our winter supply, and that only weighed 19 pounds.

Boys—Don't forget that you are to be then and husbands. Don't smoke in the presence of ladies. It is never respectful.

Grayling vs. Schemm's A very small crowd met at Association Park to see Grayling get badly trounced. Dyer was in the box, and it is certain that he did not play very good ball. Spencer for Schemm's was the novelty of the day for he pitched good ball. W. Laurant was put in the box for Grayling in the 7th inning. Score 9-1, Saginaw.

Sunday Game Saw one of the fastest games that was ever played here between Grayling and Schemm's of Saginaw. Johnson was put in the box for Grayling and he pitched excellent ball, having some very good support, winning out very easily. Score 3-1.

School Notes. (23 Years Ago) The third grade has an enrollment of 51.

The total enrollment for the school is 418. The enrollment for the High school is 59.

Coit Tower Goes Up

San Francisco soon will have one of the most spectacular observation towers in the world, for the Coit memorial, on Telegraph hill, is nearing completion. From its top balcony sightseers will have a wonderful view over the city and the bay. The tower will cost $200,000 and is being paid for from the estate of Mrs. Lillie Coit as a tribute to the memories of the framers of San Francisco's early days.

VOELKER REFUTES FALSE OPTIMISM

Because erroneous impressions have been given to the public of Michigan in the last few days to the effect that the primary interest fund money will adequately relieve the financial distress facing the public schools, Dr. Paul F. Voelker, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, has issued the following statement:

"While we are grateful that cash from the primary interest fund to be distributed in September exceeds earlier expectations, it must be remembered that this money can be used only for teachers' salaries for the ensuing year; it cannot be used generally for the payment of tuition, nor for the payment of unpaid salary or other accounts of last year. Nor can it be used for current operating expenses. It is quite useless to have teachers in the rooms if the plant cannot operate."

Present Primary Money $3,000,000 Less "It must be remembered further that the primary interest fund money estimate is $3,000,000 less than the sum received last year and that it will supply, especially in the cities, only a part of the salary budget. Because districts have not paid last year's high school tuition and have no credit for the coming year, thousands of boys and girls are facing the possibility of being deprived of the right to secondary education which is provided by law."

Referring to the statements that the sales tax will supply money for the schools and that the Governor has indicated $4,000,000 may be designated from the general fund, Dr. Voelker says: "These assertions brighten the picture to be sure. But schools cannot operate upon the prob-

CHRISTMAS TREE LAW CHANGED

Act No. 124 of the Public Acts of 1933, known as the Perry Act, requires that persons cutting, removing or transporting within this state Christmas trees, evergreen boughs or other wild trees, shrubs or vines, shall obtain the written consent of the owner of the land from which the plants or plant parts are taken. Written consent shall contain the legal description of the land, as well as the name of the legal owner thereof, and failure to exhibit such written consent to enforcement officers shall be prima facie evidence that no such consent was obtained. The regulations heretofore in force only apply to evergreen trees with the roots attached.

Any and all persons interested should obtain full information as to the detailed requirements of this new law.

DEPT. OF STATE

STATE NEWS BULLETIN

The automobile business in Michigan showed a 62 per cent increase for the last two weeks of August over the corresponding period in 1932.

For the two-week period ending August 26, 1933, a total of 25,588 automobiles were sold, according to Department of State records. Of this number, 4,455 were new cars. For the same period in 1932, 14,542 car sales were reported of which 2,509 were new automobiles.

Local acts passed by the 1933 legislature will not be printed separately but will be included in the Public Acts of 1933. In previous years the acts adopted by the legislature have been published in two volumes. The Department of State will save approximately $3,000 in binding and distribution costs because of the consolidation. The Public Acts of 1933 will be ready for distribution about October 1. Only six local acts were adopted this year.

More than 300,000 Michigan motorists have been enabled to use their automobiles the entire year of 1933 by the law which permitted the use of 1932 license plates until August 1 when accompanied by a windshield half-price permit. This law was adopted by the 1933 legislature upon recommendation of Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald.

Slightly more than 415,000 windshield permits were issued and department records to date show that over 300,000 motorists who used the stickers have now purchased 1933 license plates.

Written leases are to be demanded by the Department of State in all cases where "governmental" license plates are issued for privately-owned automobiles. These plates are issued upon application of county, township and municipal authorities but investigation in Detroit recently showed that between 90 and 100 privately-owned automobiles were using "governmental" plates without proper authority. The owners are being required to purchase 1933 plates.

Cuban Radicals Oust De Cespades, Setting Up Junta Government—"Buy Now" Campaign Organized by NRA—Vermont Votes for Repeal

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

SOLICITORS with the radical wing of the Cuban revolution in Havana, President Carlos Manuel de Cespades were too mild. So they staged a second revolution while the president was far from Havana inspecting hurricane damage and forced De Cespades and his entire government to step out. The affairs of the island republic were placed in the hands of a commission consisting of the five leaders of the revolt, Sergio Carbó, Ramon Grau San Martín, Guillermo Portela, Porfirio Franco and José Miguel Izarrat. This junta announced that the five would serve with equal power except that Portela would be the "nominal president before the diplomatic corps."

This revolution, the second within a month, was accomplished without bloodshed, but the rebels, after arresting their officers, had posted machine guns at strategic points in Havana and guns from the fortifications were trained on the presidential palace. De Cespades hurried back to the capital, met the junta members, and turned the government over to them after they had rejected as unsatisfactory his explanation that it was impossible to accomplish all the revolutionary aims in twenty-five days.

Ambassador Welles was formally notified of the change, but had nothing to say to the press. The news surprised Secretary of State Hull in Washington, and it seemed all the good work of Mr. Welles and Assistant Secretary Caffery was being undone. President Roosevelt immediately ordered four warships to Cuban ports, but this, it was explained, was only to protect American lives and property and did not constitute armed intervention. Privately, however, some officials admitted that intervention under the Platt amendment was nearer than it had been for many years.

Much was made in the newspapers of the fact that Secretary of the Navy Swanson went to Havana just at this time, but it was credibly explained that he was on a previously arranged trip to the Pacific coast and that his call on Ambassador Welles had no connection with the Cuban crisis.

Carbo, one of the junta and a magazine editor and leader of the youth movement, said the overthrow of De Cespades was determined upon when it was discovered that Mario Menocal, lately returned from exile, was organizing a counter-revolution. The radical leaders, also, were utterly dissatisfied with De Cespades' appointments to his cabinet, some of his ministers having been too closely identified with former administrations of which the radicals did not approve.

JUST before the revolution Cuba had been swept by a tropical hurricane that took the lives of yet uncounted scores of inhabitants and did vast damage. The storm moved toward the northwest and struck Florida and Texas. In the latter state perhaps a hundred lives were lost and the beautiful lower Rio Grande valley was devastated. The cities of Brownsville, Harlingen and Rio Hondo suffered severely. Relief for the stricken districts was swiftly organized by Governor Ferguson and the federal authorities. Troops were hurried into the valley, where a flood followed the hurricane. On the Mexican side of the river the destruction of life and property was as great as in Texas.

HUGH S. JOHNSON, NRA administrator, has organized his forces for a nation-wide campaign for "Buy Now Under the Blue Eagle," and in his labor day address at the World's fair in Chicago, he set September 30 as the date for its starting. He and his numerous aids will endeavor to persuade the people that to buy things at this time is not only a patriotic duty but a prudent use of their money. In doing this, they stress the latter point especially. The women particularly are urged to make this movement a success, and many thousands of them, under the leadership of Mrs. Mary E. Hughes, are enlisted in the campaign to secure from the consumers the manufacture of goods and services who are entitled to the blue eagle.

In his Chicago address General Johnson warned his hearers that the process of economic recovery necessarily entailed the raising of prices but gave assurance that this would be controlled by the government.

Two troubles the recovery administration has run into were described by Mr. Johnson as, first, the failure of some employers to live up to their agreements under the blue eagle, and second, misunderstanding of the codes between employers and workers, with some resultant strikes and lockouts.

"Our chief reliance is on the force of public opinion," he said. "We know that to take away the blue eagle is a more severe penalty than any puny fine. It is, we think, enough, but if it should prove not enough, there are plenty of penalties in the law."

"In stating this plan we have been accused of inciting a boycott. Of course, what people are doing is not a boycott. No willing employer who complies with this great national purpose can live in competition with a chisel who does not. The whole idea is based on unanimous agreement and action. It is for the benefit of the American people. It is their plan or it is nothing."

"It cannot last a month if a few unwilling or cheating employers are permitted (by the advantage of lower costs) to ruin the business of their willing and honest competitors."

RETURNING from his short vacation cruise, President Roosevelt was handed by General Johnson a number of serious problems concerning the NRA codes. Most important of these was the deadlock in the soft coal negotiations caused chiefly by the labor union issue; and this labor problem also entered into various other troubling disputes that probably will have to be settled by the President himself.

President Green of the American Federation of Labor was determined that the provision in the automobile code, permitting employers to deal with workers on the basis of their individual merit, should not be included in any other agreement, and he promised union labor he would seek its elimination from the automobile code.

Henry Ford was another problem, but it was indicated the government would not take any immediate action in his case. The whole country watched interestedly to see whether he would sign the code within the allotted time, and when he failed to do this and said nothing about his ultimate intentions, Johnson was besieged with questions as to what he would do. Talking to the press in Chicago, it seemed that the administrator weakened a little in this matter. He said Ford did not have to sign the code, and if he went further than its provisions, that would be all right with the government. The NRA could intervene, he said, only if a group of Ford's employees complained to it of unfair treatment. Johnson did reiterate his opinion that Ford would be brought to time by the force of public opinion.

Dispatches from Detroit said a wage revision was in progress at the Ford plant. No formal announcement of this was made, but officials said it was a gradual process and that about one-fourth of the 40,000 workers had received increases from $4 to $4.80 a day. The code specifies a 43-cent-an-hour minimum wage for the Detroit area. It also specifies a 35-hour week, while Ford employees who are on full time work five eight-hour days a week.

REVERTING to the union labor problem, it is interesting to note that Henry L. Harriman, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, has issued to all its members an appeal to stand firmly in defense of the open shop and in opposition to an interpretation of the labor clauses in the national recovery act which, he says, would be writing into law a mandate for a closed shop.

President Harriman asserted that employers throughout the United States had shown a splendid spirit of co-operation in preparing and adopting codes of fair competition. In return, he declared, industry should be given adequate assurance that the recovery program is not to be turned into a vehicle for forcing the closed shop on the country.

VERMONT, which was one of the few states that the prohibitionists really thought might vote against repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, disappointed them by going for repeal by a vote of more than 2 to 1. This despite the fact that election day was fair and the hopes of the drys were based largely on good weather that would bring such a large crowd, only to find that of the wet side, the town.

Even though prohibition should be repealed, the Vermont would continue without hard liquor under its present state law. Beer and wine of 3.2 alcoholic content were authorized by the legislature this year, but a state enforcement act prevents anything stronger.

Formal ratification of the repeal amendment was completed by the state conventions of Arizona and Nevada, the vote in each case being unanimous.

TWO deaths marred the otherwise successful international air races held at Glenview, a Chicago suburb. Roy Liggett of Omaha was killed when his plane fell from an altitude of 200 feet at the start of a race, one of the wings breaking off. Miss Florence Klingensmith of Minneapolis, an entry in one of the last final races, was dashed to instant death when fabric on the right wing of her fast plane tore loose and she lost control. Jimmy Wedell of Texas, a self-made aviator, was the star of the meet, for he set a new speed record for land planes. He finished a four three kilometer course four times at an average of 305.38 miles an hour. The previous record, established by Maj. James H. Doolittle, was 294.38 miles an hour.

FIFTEEN hundred delegates to the convention of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks in Chicago adopted a resolution urging congress to put postal employees on a 30 hour week, and a bill to bring this about probably will be introduced in the house next session by Congressman James M. Mead of New York, who addressed the convention.

WHAT to do with the Jews is a question that a German Nazi commissioner has been studying, and his report declares Germany must begin international negotiations to help find and set aside a new country, larger than Palestine, where Jews from all parts of the world shall be settled. The report says in part:

"It is of interest to the whole world that the Jewish problem should be settled once and for all, since Jews will remain centers of unrest, constantly creating secret societies which tend toward Bolshevism. To scatter the Jews in all directions will not help. It is best to afford them the possibility of forming a nation, settled in one country. Then they will no longer wander restlessly through the world."

The expert who made the report calculates that 1,900,000 persons should leave Germany to achieve his ideal. This number includes 800,000 Jews, 600,000 Jews who adopted the Christian faith, and an approximate 600,000 descendants of mixed marriages.

Nazi German Christians dominated the Prussian church synod in Berlin and pushed through 29 motions, including one barring non-Aryans or persons marrying non-Aryans from the pulpit and from church offices. Cases in which special services in behalf of the church can be proved were exempted from the non-Aryan rule.

NOT long ago the League of Nations organized a gendarmerie in the Saar for the purpose of gradually replacing the French troops that have been posted there to determine its nationality by plebiscite in 1935. Dispatches from Paris say the league officials are losing confidence in the new police as a result of a campaign against it by the left press, the assertion being made that it is fast falling under the influence of the German Nazis. Therefore the gendarmerie may be dissolved, although to do this and again charge French troops with the maintenance of order would probably increase the Nazi strength in the Saar.

Speaking at the dedication of a monument to Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour attacked the recent Nazi demonstrations at the Niederwald monument near the French frontier and declared in so many words that France was not intimidated. He said the situation would be grave "if our patience was born of a knowledge of our weakness. But that is not so, for France knows she is strong enough to resist violence."

The foreign minister reaffirmed France's intention not to swerve from a policy of safeguarding Austria's independence and of building a central European economic union. Chancellor Hitler told 100,000 of his storm troops at the Nuremberg Nazi party convention that Germany was not looking for war.

BECAUSE an engineer did not see or did not heed a flagman's red lantern, 14 persons were killed and 25 injured in a rail disaster at Wagon, N. Y. The Atlantic coast, a Chicago-New York passenger train on the Erie road, stopped by an automatic block signal, was struck in the rear by a milk train and a wooden car was completely demolished by a steel coach. Most of the dead were members of Sunnyside, Pa.

A seagoing dry-dock, to accommodate destroyers, submarines, and smaller craft, is seen to be built for use at San Pedro, Calif.

Trout Racket Bared!

The following exposure of the trout-fishing game is reprinted from the Osceola County News:

This is the trout-fishing season. A trout is a fish known mainly by hearsay. It lives on anything not included in a fisherman's equipment.

Fishing for some fish is a careless pastime, requiring nothing but a natural instinct for loafing, but fishing for trout is a specialized occupation for skilled workers only. It is a merger of hiking, swimming, marathon waiting, lariat throwing, and angling combining the most exasperating features of each.

Behind the whole pastime is the silly notion that a trout's favorite lunch is a horsefly fed on the end of a buggy whip. It is the only outdoor sport in which more territory is covered afoot than golf. All things considered, golf is a better game because they have caddies to carry the luggage.

Trout can be caught with worms on a bent pin, but custom has made it a violation of the constitution, the treaty of Ghent, the Monroe Doctrine, and the white man's code to take fish without the maximum locus pocus, correct form, perfect coordination of mind and body and the use of about $300 worth of superfluous equipment.

Etiquette requires that you fish with flies. A fly is a curious bunch of rooster feathers designed by the same fellow who makes women's dresses and ornaments and named by the bird who digs up new monikers for sleeping cars.

These flies are the real prize of the real trout angler's heart. If the trout liked them as well as the fishermen everything would be jake.

The basic idea in trout is to tie the fly on the end of a line and cast it so that it will land in the face of some trout with an insatiable appetite for mattress feathers. The truth about the matter is that all sensible trout know that some gouty member of the rod and game club is doing his spring moulting.

Nevertheless a joke can be carried too far and after a certain amount of annoyance the trout will snap at the darned thing out of resentment. That is what the trout fishermen call a "strike."

There are many strange theories accepted as facts by trout fishermen, one of which the trout will not bite when the water is high. Another is that the trout will not bite when the water is low. A cardinal axiom is that there is no use trouting when the water is too warm. Any alibi goes when delivered knee-deep in a brook. If you really want fish it is best to call up the market and order halibut.

Parents Must Know Diet Fundamentals

RESPONSIBILITY OF TEACHING HEALTH RULES DOES NOT REST WHOLLY UPON SCHOOLS

(By Mary G. McCormick, Supervisor of Health Teaching, New York State Department of Education.)

Thousands of children throughout our country are returning to school this month, to take up tasks where they left off last Spring, or to begin the long and necessary school life that will give them the experiences which will produce that true growth, mental and physical, which is the good of education.

Since the foundation of the Republic the necessity and importance of public education has been realized. More recently we have begun to recognize that health is one of the cardinal objectives of education. Education without health is unsafe. Not only must the school child be protected from ill health which might result from confinement in school so many hours a day; he must also be taught the lessons of health so that his body will grow stronger and more resistant to disease as a result of his school experience.

To further aim, many up-to-date school systems have departments of physical and health instruction, and virtually every state educational system has a state supervisor of health education to work with teachers in watching over the health of school children. It is important, of course, that the schools undertake this work. Health teaching is as much a part of the school's field as any other kind of teaching. But the responsibility does not rest wholly upon the teachers. Parents must also help. In this field the parents have a special opportunity to aid in bringing up strong, healthy children.

How can parents help? They must first learn the fundamentals of good health for themselves and practice them in the home.

Husband Pleased After Wife Lost BULKY FAT

REDUCED 21 POUNDS—SKIN CLEARER AND FEELS MUCH BETTER

"I've lost exactly 21 lbs. with 3 jars of Kruschen and am so happy to get rid of that bulky fat. My husband is very pleased with me. My skin is clearer and I feel so much better since I'm not so heavy on my feet. Friends say I look much better." Mrs. Norma Spickler, Maugansville, Md.

To get rid of double chins, bulging hips, ugly rolls of fat on waist and upper arms SAFELY and without discomfort—at the same time build up glorious health and acquire a clear skin, bright eyes, energy and vivaciousness—to look younger and feel it—take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

One jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle at Mac & Gidley's. Make sure you get Kruschen because it's SAFE. Money back if not satisfied.

Allen B. Failing accompanied Oscar and Beulah Holmberg, children of the late Roy Holmberg, to the Masonic Home for orphans at Alma Monday. It was the wish of their father that they enter the home, where they will be properly cared for. They will attend a public school. In all there are eight children at the home at this time. The home is set apart in a separate building from the main Masonic home, and is under the care of a matron. These children are fortunate in having a splendid home to go to, which is made possible by the father's membership in the Masonic fraternity. Mr. Failing says he left them happy and contented. He was accompanied on the trip by Mr. and Mrs. James Perry, who had been caring for the children since the recent death of the father.

Mrs. Phyllis Anderson of Houghton Lake is a patient at Mercy Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Trudeau and son Junior enjoyed the week end at Burt Lake.

After the driest summer for many years light rains appeared Friday night of last week. While it was light still it was very welcome. Wednesday a slow drizzling rain hung on most of the day and promises to do a lot of good in the way of lessening the forest fire hazard.

Hunters will be interested to know that the duck season this year is the same as last year—October 1st to November 30th inclusive. The limit kill for one day is 12, and 24 ducks in possession at any one time. The time will soon be here so it is time to shine up the old duck gun and be ready to enjoy the sport when the season begins.

It looks very much as tho Chief Tewanama and his son are all a fake about 500 Indians coming to Grayling next Saturday. The Cheboygan Tribune announced in big headlines last week that they would be in that city last Saturday and Sunday, but nobody saw them there. The old boy while in Grayling seems to have paled a few frog skins off some of our trusting citizens, because he needs money and the government will not permit him to draw checks in spite of the fact that is "worth a million and a half." Chief Wolf-paw! Publishers: Watch out for this slick Indian.

George N. Olson and Oscar Hanson spent Tuesday in West Branch where they played the golf course there.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Henderson spent the forepart of the week in Detroit. They were accompanied there by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brown and two daughters, who had spent a couple of months at the Peter Brown home, and who are returning to their home in Los Angeles, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Menno Corwin celebrated their 9th wedding anniversary on August 31st, by entertaining members of the Corwin family for the evening. Bridge was enjoyed with the prizes going to Miss Mildred Corwin for high score and Miss Ruth Corwin received consolations. The hostess served a delicious lunch.

Miss Alecia Fuller who was united in marriage to Lieut. Robert W. Bowles last Saturday in Grand Rapids, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Fuller, the latter being formerly Miss Mary Woodruff, who at one time taught in Grayling schools. Lieut. Bowles is at present located at C.C.C. No. 681, Camp AuSable, about thirty miles from here.

Mrs. George Burke, who has been in ill health for a long time left Monday to visit the Shrine of St. Anne in Quebec, in an effort to restore her health. Enroute she expects to stop at the Shrine of Brother Andrea at Montreal and expects to be away a week or ten days. Nyland Houghton accompanied Mrs. Burke as chauffeur and they went by way of Port Huron and Sarnia, Canada.

At a quiet ceremony performed by the Rev. Fr. George Gougeon at St. Michael's rectory in Pinconning Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, Miss Beatrice Meyette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Meyette of Pinconning became the bride of Clark Kerr of Starling. The young lady is the niece of Mrs. David Montour and has visited at their home here at various times, and her mother will be remembered as Miss Anna Gendron, who lived in Grayling at one time. Previous to the day of the wedding the young bride-to-be was guest of honor at a lovely miscellaneous shower given by Mr. and Mrs. Oddie Lucas at Sterling, at which there were 75 guests.

Edward Cregue Jr. and family of Flint enjoyed last week visiting the former's father E. W. Cregue at his cabin on the AuSable.

Forest fires are burning the stock in trade of Michigan's tourist industry. Caution with burning tobacco would help minimize the loss.

Mrs. Emil Giegling and children returned to Grayling from Marquette the latter part of the week, after being there for several months. Mr. Giegling accompanied them but returned there where he is looking after the lumber interests of the Kerry & Hanson Flooring Company.

The next district meeting of the American Legion posts and auxiliaries of the Tenth district will be held at Reed City on Monday, September 18. There is to be a convention parade, business session, banquet and dance for the pleasure of Legionnaires from 14 counties.

Little Joan Corwin, 17 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Menno Corwin, when given a golf ball, while at the club house with her mother one day recently, ran over to No. 9 hole and put the ball into it. She knew where it belonged and no doubt will be one of the ring leaders in the golf game when she grows up.

Benj. Jerome Jr. and Arnold left Sunday for East Lansing where Arnold started his senior year in High School and Ben Jr. will soon begin his sophomore year at M.S.C. They were accompanied there by Staley Hall, who returned to his home in Mason, after spending the summer with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mickelson, at Lake Margrethe.

Banish Fear of Blow-Outs
with this new 3-times-safer tire

HERE'S real news! You can get the blow-out protection of this "3-times-safer tire" FREE. We refuse to charge one penny extra for this remarkable Life-Saver Golden Ply invention.

Today's high speeds generate terrific heat inside your tire. This causes rubber and fabric to separate. A blister starts... and grows... bigger and bigger... until BANG! A blow-out! And you're headed for trouble... or worse!

Don't think that slower driving can save you from blow-outs, either. Sustained speeds—on longer trips—as low as 35 or 40 miles per hour can generate terrific heat, too. Don't take chances. That blister... that blow-out in the making... may be in your tire right now!

The new Goodrich Silvertown, with the Life-Saver Golden Ply, prevents this... makes you 3 times safer from blow-outs at high speeds. Come in and let us show you this remarkable tire. Remember it costs not a penny more than any other standard tire.

OUR TRAGIC GOVERNOR

The Eccentric agrees with those who hold that Governor Comstock should not be recalled. Although he has proven himself a tragically and disappointingly to a majority of those who voted for him, (and this includes Republicans as well as Democrats), the Governor has not as yet earned a recall. If he is deserving of shelving, it must come about either through legislative impeachment proceedings or by defeat in 1934. Personally, The Eccentric has always had a certain admiration for Mr. Comstock's loyalty to the Party he represents. We hold it a tremendous loss to Michigan that his post-election performance thus far has fallen so short of his pre-election promise.—George Averill, Birmingham Eccentric.

An editorial from the Crystal Falls Diamond Drill refers to the "Straits Bridge Folly." Our readers may feel that we are taking a deterring attitude when we approve of all that our northern Michigan brother editors have said about this project, but if such a structure is ever built across the Straits then our home people will come to realize that there was reason for our position. First, we object to a bridge across the straits because it will practically kill three good cities, just the same as the construction of US 27 three miles west of Cheboygan would have been a death blow to Cheboygan. A bridge across the Straits will not start at Cheboygan, Mackinaw City or St. Ignace or will it end at any of these places. Instead the terminals will be somewhat removed from either of the places and highways and traffic will connect with them in the shortest possible way. Most of that new business that comes into our part of the state every year, that business that contributes most toward keeping northern Michigan alive today is not subject to such boat trips as the state ferries now provide. That boat trip and its attendant features, the courteous consideration extended by the state employees on those boats; in all it adds much to the charm of a northern Michigan auto trip. A ride across a bridge is common for all travelers. That is proven in the operation of that great structure that connects Detroit and Windsor. It's just a temporary thrill, not a lasting and memorable experience as enjoyed by those summer visitors crossing the Straits. A bridge across the Straits will greatly shorten the time for the truckers, the business men and the travelers that count the hours and the minutes between one end of the state and the other, but those interests do not leave the wealth in our communities the summer visitors do.

Congressman Brown may provide a temporary help to his district in promoting the bridge project, but in the end we believe he will have wrecked his own home town. There are more than immediate needs to be considered in such a stupendous undertaking.—Cheboygan Observer.

JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE

The case of John Jones was being tried. John, who was cutting a piece of cheese for a customer, looked up from his work one day and saw another inspector entering the store. He fell upon him with the cheese knife.

"There are only six working days in the week," John testified. "Monday I was at my farm and an inspector dropped in to see if my cows were t.b. tested. Two others came along to look over the bees and the orchard. I got back to the store Tuesday. The local sealer of weights and measures inspected my scales. A few minutes later a state inspector came in to see if my scales and measures were all right."

"Wednesday morning one of my trusty drivers called in and said an inspector stopped him to see what he was hauling and why. About noon a sales tax inspector wanted to look over my books."

"I sell beer. Thursday the beer inspector came. He wanted to see my books too."

"Friday a gent arrived to see if the goods I am selling comply with the pure food acts. Some boys from the health department came along and tested the artesian well I have back of the store for the consumption of the public."

ATT. BRANSON

CLOSED FIRST LOAN

C. M. Branson until recently a Grayling, Michigan Attorney is now one of the four Michigan counsel for the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, an instrumentality of the United States; with offices at 1615 Barlum Tower, Detroit, Michigan.

It is a corporation created by the last session of Congress for the purpose of saving the homes of home owners where they are unable to secure money through the usual channels to pay mortgages and where the mortgagee is foreclosing.

The property to be dealt with

is home property. It may be located inside or outside an incorporated city, town or village. It must be occupied by the owner as his home place is held as his home, although the owner may be temporarily residing elsewhere. The corporation is not to deal with commercial rental property. The premises may incidentally have a small store or some farm land or other incidental use, provided it is the owner's home. Ordinary farm loans in Michigan ought to be referred to the Federal Land Bank at St. Paul, Minnesota.

Applications for loans for taxes, assessments, maintenance and repairs on property otherwise unimpaired may be handled in the same manner provided for applications to take up mortgages with bonds and pay said items in connection therewith.

All states are now operating under this Act of Congress. Michigan having been one of the most distressed states, was the first to open for business, hence the Michigan organization is pioneering the work; so on Mr. Branson and his colleagues falls the task of working out new forms, methods and systems of handling this enormous volume of work in thus relieving home owners in distress.

Mr. Branson has the distinction of passing on the first land title and closing the first loan in the United States under this law; same being the Joseph Schley loan in Cheboygan, Michigan closed August 8, 1933.

The corporation has two hundred million dollars of capital stock subscribed and paid for by the United States Treasury and it has authority to issue two billion dollars of bonds, running 18 years with 4% interest, the interest being guaranteed by the United States Government.

The proceeds of these bonds going to mortgagees who use them to pay their bills etc., also the corporation pays state and county taxes, city and village taxes, water taxes, repairs and maintenance of the property, insurance and other items is filtering money into all businesses and not only saving homes for persons in distress but also helping all lines of pursuit. Many banks are being saved by being able to get relief from home mortgages they have otherwise been unable to liquidate; it is putting more money in the hands of the people and institutions otherwise barred in the present pinch. Already the cloud is lifting for numberless fathers and householders throughout the nation, also lumber yards, shingle weavers, sawmills, planing mills, timber owners, those transporting logs and lumber, paint stores, paint manufacturers, producers of the raw materials, labor, etc., etc., for the money goes everywhere.

The Corporation is not to decline to make a loan to a bonafide home owner on account of his inability at this time to make payments carving him I heaved him out in the street."

The jury retired. Shortly a verdict was rendered:

"Justifiable homicide. John Jones goes free, and gets a medal of honor besides."

The court room broke into bedlam as the taxpayers cheered.—Michigan Digest.

thousand of this building stands alone... other economic conditions beyond his control, but at the same time the Board of Control desires to see to it that the applicant is a bonafide home owner and the character of persons with whom it is doing business. The Corporation does not desire to take over the financing of home mortgages for those who neglect or refuse to pay their just debts when they are able to do so.

Residents of Crawford and surrounding counties may obtain application blanks from the St. Ignace Branch, one of five Michigan offices to expedite handling for the people.

Mr. Branson graduated from the University in 1909 and has led an active life with broad experiences. Mr. Branson through his practicing law and conducting machinery business in Grayling and Michigan has a broad grasp of conditions in this part of the State and has an extensive acquaintanceship over the State.

Mr. Branson's fellow townsmen and associates agree his appointment was merited by his ability, attention to his business and integrity.

FOREST FIRES AND SPORTSMEN

For twelve years we have fished a certain trout stream from which you can look in almost any direction and see blackened spruce stumps, baked-looking boulders, and a struggling second growth. Some one dropped a match. The match was forgotten in eight miles of forest fire which burned for two weeks. The trout stream has suffered. Every deer, moose, fox, rabbit—every grouse, woodcock, snipe, and duck either died or moved on.

How is such a scar erased? How long does it take? The earth cools and stops smoking. The smell of charred wood fades. Insects and borers go gradually to work on the stumps. Night hawks move in to feed on the insects. In spring the hardwoods begin to grow. They grow for fifteen years, sheltering the young spruce, fir and pine. Gradually the spruce and fir—the "black growth"—gains the upper hand. The birch and popple begin to die off. Finally this trout stream looks exactly as it did originally. The process takes seventy-five years. To see that stream as we once saw it, we shall be obliged to live one hundred and eleven years, which is too long. It is too long for all those of our generation. Our sons will be old men before this country comes back. Some one dropped a match.

The President's Reforestation Program has made more people think more about forestry in general than ever before. Hundreds of thousands of young men are learning how to beat that seventy-five years which Nature allots herself for her own reforestation. They are learning that watersheds are dependent upon trees; that fish are dependent upon watersheds; that ducks must have water; that game must have cover. Some States are using the Reforestation Program with game and fish Restoration definitely in view. How, indeed, can they be separated?

October, not so far hence, is one of the crowning months of the year for sportsmen. It is the month when leaves turn red and brown, when the distant hills are never so blue, when millions of license holders will see the fruition of a year's anticipation. These millions are dependent on the forests for their sport. Therefore, carelessness with fire is unlikely to be attributable to them. They know October for their chosen month. They know it, also, for a dangerous month. This year, with the country awakened to the importance of forests and forestry, sportsmen can do more than merely exercise caution themselves. They can warn all others of what follows in the wake of the smoldering fire, the tossed cigarette, the lighted match that can devastate the work of seventy-five years.

"Proud and glad to do our part"

WITH President Roosevelt's acceptance of the NRA Automobile Code, Chevrolet, the world's largest builder of motor cars, officially begins operations in accordance with the administration's recovery program.

Although the official code was signed only a few days ago, it will be of interest to Chevrolet's many friends to learn that the Chevrolet Motor Company started to carry out the spirit of today's recovery program over three years ago!

At that time, we put into operation a "share-the-work" plan, whereby our workmen cooperated in spreading the work to give more men jobs. By means of this plan, as well as by regulating hours of work per week to meet retail demand, and by building up parts stocks in lean seasons, it was possible to carry 33,000 men on our payroll through the depression. For eleven months of each year since 1929, we have kept our employment within 10 per cent of this average. We are justly proud of that record. We are also proud to say that Chevrolet workmen did not, at any time during the depression, become a burden on public welfare departments.

On August 1st of this year, Chevrolet announced a blanket wage increase as well as the adoption of a 7½-hour, 5-day week and the employment of 12,000 additional men. This wage increase was the second in the last 4 months. Chevrolet having been among the first to put a blanket wage increase into effect.

We feel that the President's recovery program deserves the whole-hearted support of every citizen and manufacturer in America. It is a bold, swift, courageous plan to start the ball rolling toward economic recovery. Its sincerity is unquestioned. Its objectives are admirable. And the direct, forceful steps the President and his associates are taking to make it a success, should stir the pride and admiration of every American.

We are proud and glad to do our part. And we are deeply grateful to the American people for the patronage that has enabled us to anticipate the present recovery program and to play our part today. After all, the immense number of men employed by Chevrolet is a direct result of the continued preference America has shown for Chevrolet.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Doby were callers in Lewiston last week. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Feldhauser made a trip to Grayling last Saturday. Everybody is glad that the forest fires are nearly out, as the men were very tired fighting fire day and night. Mr. and Mrs. George Brand and children have returned to their home in Detroit. Rev. Browning was a caller in Lovells last Saturday. Beanie and Edna Small, Marie McCormick, Virginia Feldhauser, and Robert Papendus are attending high school in Grayling. Elmo Nephew and Lewis Stillwagon are attending high school in Frederic. Beauford Peoples has returned to his home in Lansing after spending the summer with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Caid.

Freckles Insured

Every one of Dorothy Coonan's one hundred and eighty odd freckles is worth money. If she should lose them she wouldn't have a job in pictures. When a recent production was completed in Hollywood, Mrs. Coonan was offered a long term contract. It expressly provided that she must stay freckled. Whereupon, in addition to using sun lamps to keep the crop of freckles in good condition, Dorothy has had her freckles insured for $100,000.
